Next Monday is a holiday.

Commercial Club meets to-night.

Everybody enjoyed the Chautauqua.
All roads will lead to Paint Lick
next Monday.

Every business man in Lancaster is asked to attend the Commercial Club meeting tonight. This club is organized for your interest and you should at least lend it your presence for a little while.

On Friday Night, the Romans Opera House presents Robert Warwick in the famous World Film Corporation feature, "Alias Jimmie Valentine." An exceptionally strong drama that will please all. This house also has arranged, for your amusement, a playing contest for Saturday Night. See it.

More than 700 physicians of Louisville have received circular letters from the Louisville Gas & Electric company, offering to install wiring and furnish electric fans and electric toasters without charge for any invalid who, in the judgment of the physicians, may be without financial means to pay for them. Last year free electric fans were furnished to indigent invalids.

Hon. A. O. Stanley, the great leader of untarnished and undiluted Democracy, the great champion of the people's rights, the present bulwark in Kentucky between the people and fanatical legislation that would make our taxes unbearable, is easily master of the situation in this county. The Democrats in this county are wise to their best interests and Stanley will get more votes in this county than the combined vote of his opponents.

Many Danville people attended court Monday in Lancaster. Some went on business, some on pleasure, but if you will read the names carefully you will find that the greater number were there on a political mission; Hon. C. C. Fox, Judge E. V. Puryear, M. J. Farris,
Richard Gentry, Banks Hudson, B. G.
Fox, Monte Fox, A. W. King, John B.
Stout, Ed Lanier, Tim Hardesty and others.—Advocate.

AT BAPTIST CHURCH.

The Rev. A. J. Clear will preach at the Baptist church next Sunday morning. A cordial welcome to all.

COME AND ENJOY YOURSELF

Come to Dripping Springs on the 4th of July and get a good dinner. The hotel is open and everyone is enjoying himself.
Mrs. J. D. Wilson.

HOLIDAY JULY FIFTH.

From the fact that the fourth of July falls on Sunday, Monday, the fifth will be observed and all banks will be closed on that day. Remember also there will be no rural delivery on that day.
With the exception of a few hours the post office will be closed the entire day.

POUND OF CANDY.

The contest for school children offered in the last issue of the Record will close next Tuesday morning and all solutions should be in the office by that time. The prize will be a box of nice candy and can easily be won with a few moments work. Get busy and send in your solution.

NEW MANAGEMENT.

The Gurnee Amusement Co., the lessee of the Roman's opera house is putting on some good shows at this house. To-night that popular film comedian, Charlie Chaplin, will give you a dollar show for only a dime.
Read the advertisement of this company in every issue of the Record.

HANDSOME CABINET.

Feeling that nothing in the line of up-to-date fixtures is too fine for his store and should be in keeping with his up-to-date stock, Mr. J. W. Smith, our local gent's furnisher, has recently installed one of the handsomest suit and hat cabinets ever seen in a town the size of Lancaster. The cabinet is of the very latest pattern, is finished in mahogany and will accommodate two hundred and fifty suits and an equal number of hats.

BIG PENSION AWARDED TO KENTUCKIAN.

Twenty-year old Daniel Wakefield, of Greensburg, Ky., whose eyes were shot out by a Mexican while he was on duty on the Texas border eight months ago, was notified by telegraph that the commissioner of pensions had allowed him a pension of $100 a month.
This is an unusual recognition to a manned soldier, as the records of the pension bureau shows that less than a dozen pensioners receive so large amount.
Wakefield, who was born June 20, 1895, in Green county, has just returned to the place of his birth, totally blind as a result of a gunshot wound received in line of duty while serving as a private in Troop E, Ninth United States Cavalry. He enlisted April 21, 1904, at Columbus Barracks, Ohio, was assigned to the Ninth Cavalry and ordered to join his regiment the on duty along the Mexican border.

EXACTLY SO.

"If a store does not advertise enough to make the daily happenings of its business known or to keep the public informed of the advantages of every kind which it offers, whether they be of monetary or simple educational consideration, that store is just as much lacking in its plain duty to the public as is the store which resorts to methods of overexploitation," said one of the speakers at the big Ad Club convention in Chicago this week.

BETTER ROADS.

The question of better roads is the greatest issue now before the people.
Bond issues in many counties are being voted down for lack of confidence in the county officials to judiciously spend the money. This is a sad state of affairs, and even deplorable, to say the least.

The voters I have to begin at the bottom and elect men to office who will do their work honestly. There are too many political shifters who want to stick their hands into the public corncrib. It is a shame that conditions are such that the people have to vote a legitimate bond issue down because the officers of the law will not spend the money appropriated in an honest way.
The best thing to do is to roust that kind of officers, or make them afraid not to do their work honestly. The people are unanimous in wanting better roads, but they are also unanimous in the belief that it should not cost $200 to have $100 worth of work done. The drones and grafters are always ready to stick their fingers into the "pie," which name they have given public funds. The whole trouble is that there are too many private political debts to pay out of the state treasury. People are demanding better roads all over the state and they are going to get what they want, but in many instances they will be slow in coming.

THE CHAUTAUQUA.

The past week devoted to the Chautauqua has proven itself one of the most enjoyable and entertaining of the year. Both from a social and an educational standpoint the Lancaster Chautauqua has been all that could be desired. Speakers of national prominence and entertainers of wide reputation have been brought to our city, and our people have been given an opportunity to see, for a reasonable admission, the best that the country affords.

The Chautauqua is our opportunity to prove our interest in the cultural welfare of our section. As to the program this year, the advertising columns of the RECORD gave a full account of it, and we believe it was fully up to the standard of last year, and all that was advertised.

While all the attaches of the Redpath Chautauqua were gentlemen in every sense of the word, the company is indeed fortunate in having for its superintendent, Mr. E. T. Bailey, who made friends of every one during his stay in Lancaster, and now since the Chautauqua is to be with us again next year, we trust they may see fit to have him with us again.

Mother Lake's plea for sobriety, right living and fair dealings was one of the most popular lectures on the program.
The Kellogg-Haines singing party was all it was advertised and more. It is a most excellent quartet, and every number from the grand opera Martha,
to comic light opera was greeted with applause.

Dr. Colledge and Adam Bede gave lectures, the deep thought of which will linger with us long after the wonderful music of Cimet's concert band is forgotten, even tho it was grand.

We have not space to speak of all other than to say there were no disappointments.

HOLDS NO HOPE

FOR EARLY PEACE.

President Wilson does not see any prospect for an early peace in Europe.
Col. E. M. House, his close friend and unofficial envoy to Europe, gave the President the results of his sojourn of several months in the principal capitals of Europe, where he talked intimately with the responsible officials of the German, British and French governments, and the information he imparted in the long walks and talks which they enjoyed yesterday reflected definitely the ideas held by both diplomatists and the military element in each of the countries at war. He also disclosed the various beliefs and currents of public opinion in each country
as to what might be the possible terms of peace, and the trend of public opinion toward the different peace proposals that have been brought forward from time to time in informal discussions by the press and peace organizations.

The President has been guided largely by what Col. House has reported to him by cable and letters in handling the delicate question of renewing the efforts of the United States to bring about a general acceptance of meditation.

REPUBLICAN CAUCUS

Brings Out Many Candidates For Local Offices.

At a meeting of the Republican county committee, called last Monday afternoon in the court room of the Rex Theater building, it developed that quite a number desired to run for some of the county offices to be filled this fall. Another meeting has been called for next Saturday, at which time it is believed, several candidates will announce themselves. The offices mentioned in which they will probably nominate candidates are, Representative, Circuit Court Clerk and Sheriff.

AUTOMOBILE AND PONY

To Be Given Away Here Next Saturday.

Through the liberality of several merchants and business men of the town, a handsome Ford runabout will be given away here next Saturday afternoon. Be sure and be on hand and bring your tickets. Read the advertisement on another page of this issue and consult some of the merchants for particulars. The second prize in the Pony Contest will also be awarded at the same time. This second prize is a beautiful pony colt and is well worth working for to the last minute. One subscription to the Record gets 1000 votes, whether new or old.

CHAUTAUQUA

SIGNED FOR ANOTHER YEAR.

Lets Make It An Annual Affair.

That the people of Lancaster are pleased with the Redpath Chautauqua is evidenced by the fact that they are to be with us another year. The enthusiasm exhibited points strongly to its becoming an annual affair. No sooner had the management begun taking the sense of the people as to their wish for its return, when the guarantors to the number of fifty two came forward and signed up for another year, and in a few moments about 350
season tickets were sold for next year.
We are glad to announce this and hope it may become permanent.

STANLEY APPOINTMENT

COVER EVERY DAY

Until The Primary Is Held On The 7th
Of August.

Stanley will speak every day from now until the primary.

Demand for him is coming from every county in which he has not yet spoken.
His popularity is so great that he cannot possibly reach every point now calling for him.

On July 10th he will speak at Paris, Georgetown and Versailles, and at Lawrenceburg July 9th.

Stanley is making a whirlwind campaign through Central Kentucky.
He is speaking every day except Sundays, and will continue every day until August 7th, the date of the Primary.

He will cover every section of the State, which he has not already covered.

From every county in which he has not yet spoken he is receiving letters and telegrams asking that he speak
there.

A POLITICAL COURT DAY

Small Crowd In Town, Politics The Absorbing Question.

One of the smallest Court Day crowds
we have seen in Lancaster in many months was that in Lancaster last Monday. It was quite easy for the many candidates for local and State offices to see all of the voters present and talk over political ambitions.
Friends of the two candidates for Circuit Judge were active. A number of friends of Mr. C. C. Fox came over from Danville and joined with his friends in Garrard to boost his candidacy. Judge Hardin was on the ground early to take care of his interests, and both he and his friends were heartily pleased with the results of the day. It was very apparent that a large majority of the crowd were favorable to the re-election of Judge Hardin, even friends of Mr. Fox conceded that Garrard County would give Judge Hardin a big majority at the primary which is now less than forty days off. Judge Sam Owalev and Hon. Emmet Puryear, candidates for Commonwealth Attorney were busy shaking hands with the voters, each claiming that their candidacy was progressing satisfactorily.
Each had a number of friends working with the voters and pushing the interests of each. Mr. A. A. King of Danville, who has a host of friends in Garrard county, especially among the tobacco growers who sell their tobacco on Danville tobacco markets, was working for his friend Sherman Good-paster for the nomination for State Treasurer. He found Mr. Goodpaster very popular in Garrard county and thinks he will get a satisfactory majority over his opponent, Hon. Claude Tarrill. Mr. W. B. Mason and his friends were busy getting pledges in his interest for re-election for Circuit Clerk, and those who were looking after his interest think that he will be an easy winner in the race for nomination.

GOOD TREATMENT

FOR OILY SCALPS.

Men and women whose hair and scalp are excessively oily suffer more in the warmer months than at any other time. The summer's dust and dirt mingle with dandruff, cling to the oily hair and scalp, clog the scalp pores, stiffen the hair roots and make proper cleansing almost impossible.

Parian Sage is an ideal treatment for this trouble. Wash the hair not oftener than once a week, but use Parian Sage twice daily, pouring a little into the parted hair and rubbing briskly right into the scalp with the finger tips. It drives out dandruff, dissolves the excess oil and stimulates the scalp into healthy normal action. Sold by R. E. McRoberts and leading druggists everywhere.

The preliminary trial of Katharine Alford for shooting and killing Oliver Smith last week was held here Friday. The defendant was held over to the grand jury without bail. Judge C. Hays Foster, who is acting judge during the absence of Judge James P. Bailey, presided in a most pleasing manner to all.

Mrs. Ossie Hamilton Fletcher, wife of Coy C. Fletcher, died Saturday of tuberculosis, age 20 years. Besides her husband she leaves a little girl only seven weeks old. Deceased was a member of the Christian church. Funeral services were held at Mt. Moriah church and interment in the burying ground at that place.

The Alumni banquet, which promises to be an enjoyable affair in this city this summer will probably be given on July 9th. There will probably be the majority of the Alumni present for this affair. Prof. J. W. Ireland, who was the instructor of most the Alumni for years will be toastmaster for this occasion.

The wedding of Miss Anna Chancellor, of this city and William Russell Hawkins, of Corbin, was solemnized at Danville on last Wednesday at the home of Rev. W. E. Arnold. The bride is the accomplished and attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hedell Chancellor, while the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Hawkins, of Corbin and a very prominent business man of that city. This popular young couple have a host of friends here who wish them much joy and happiness on their journey through life. They will make their home at Corbin.

FIRST THINGS IN KENTUCKY

Notes Of Interest Taken From Old Papers.

The first woman to own a piece of land in Kentucky was Susanah Boone, wife of Daniel Boone, who very early obtained a patent for a tract in Madison county.

The first marriage in Kentucky was that of Samuel Henderson to Elizabeth Coloway, Aug. 7, 1776. Their daughter, Fannie, born in 1777, was the first white child in the State born of parents born in the state.

The first plow manufactured was made by William Pogue at Harrodsburg in 1770. He also made his first loom, while his wife brought the first spinning wheel to the State and wove from the lint of nettles, the first piece of line manufactured, and from buffalo wool the first piece of line.

The first grist mill in the state run by water was perhaps the one built by Capt. John McMurtry, near Shakertown in Mercer county, in 1792.

The first apple seeds were planted in Mercer county by members of the McAfee company in 1775. Dr. Walter and his companions planted the first peach seed and raised the first crop of corn cultivated by white men, near Barboursville in 1790.

The first wagon of which history gives an account was run over Smith's wagon road from Lexington to Maysville in 1792 by a man named Smith.

FOR HOW LONG?

Lancaster Raises A Pertinent Question.

When a neighbor tells us that he has recovered from a serious illness, the first question that naturally arises is, "How long will he keep well?" Temporary relief is one thing, but a lasting cure is altogether different. There is nothing temporary about the work of Doan's Kidney Pills as the following evidence proves beyond a doubt.

George Wright, Hotel Kengarian, Lancaster, says: "I suffered from an aching back. The kidney secretions also bothered me, being irregular, scanty and painful in passage. Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at R. E. McRoberts & Son's Drug Store, removed the pains and restored my kidneys to a normal action." (Statement given March 20th, 1908.)

OVER THREE YEARS LATER. Mr. Wright said: "I have had no kidney trouble since giving by former recommendation of Doan's Kidney Pills."

HOW TO GROW RED CLOVER

(By Ernest Pittman, County Farm Demonstrator.)

The difficulties in the way of securing a stand of red clover seeded with the wheat or oats in the spring are so great that it seems we cannot continue the practice.

The experience of the four Experiment Station, as well as a great many farmers located throughout western Kentucky, shows that the best time to sow this crop, is in the late summer or early fall, without a nurse crop, instead of in the spring with wheat or oats.

The following method of preparation has been shown to be successful: As soon as the wheat or oats are harvested, disk the land and then plow it. Keep the field well worked down during the summer, making a good seed bed. Before seeding time apply two to four hundred pounds of acid phosphate per acre and work it into the soil. Between August 20th and September 5th sow eight pounds of clean clover seed per acre.

The splendid clover that can be grown in this way will be astonishing.

The next year the clover will be found as large, if not larger than if sown the spring before. Every farmer in Kentucky should try a few acres in this way. Be sure to put on the acid phosphate. See your dealer in time and have him secure clover seed for this fall sowing for you.

Cured of Indigestion.

Mrs. Sadie P. Clawson, Indiana, Pa., was bothered with indigestion. "My stomach pained me night and day," she writes. "I would feel bloated and have headache and belching after eating. I also suffered from constipation. My daughter had used Chamberlain's Tablets and they did her so much good that she gave me a few doses of them and insisted upon me trying them. They helped me as nothing else has done." For sale by all dealers. Im.

"Your husband is rather stout." "Weighs over 300 pounds. He's a pest in summer time." "How so?" "Takes him too long to get thru a screen door."

Best Diarrhoea Remedy.

If you have ever used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy you know that it is a success. Sam F. Guin, Wbatley, Ala., writes, "I had measles and got caught out in the rain, and it settled in my stomach and bowels. I had an awful time, and had it not been for Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy I could not possibly have lived but a few hours longer but thanks to this remedy, I am now well and strong. TENNESSEE OFFICIAL WINS LONG FIGHT

J. W. Seaton of Linden, Clerk of the Circuit Court of the Twelfth Judicial District of Tennessee, was for years a sufferer from stomach trouble—in part a result of his confining work. He tried doctor after doctor. He tried medicines without end.

One day he took a dose of May's Wonderful Remedy. He wrote:

"Your medicine is the best in the world for any form of stomach trouble. I am glad to say that after taking the full treatment I feel that I am well."

"I had very severe pains in my stomach all the time. One bottle of your medicine did me ten times as much good as all the doctors' medicine that I took for two years. My family physician told me that I would never be any better—today I am well. I have gained twenty-five pounds."

May's Wonderful Remedy gives permanent results for stomach, liver and intestinal ailments. Eat as much and whatever you like. No more distress after eating, pressure of gas in the stomach and around the heart. Get one bottle of your druggist now and try it on an absolute guarantee—if not satisfactory money will be returned.

J. F. HOLTZCLAW

Progressive Candidate For Auditor.

One of our citizens, Mr. J. F. Holtzclaw, has been honored with the nomination for State Auditor on the Progressive ticket. Mr. Holtzclaw has always been an ardent Bull Moose and his friends claim that his nomination will very materially strengthen the ticket in this district.

SENATOR JAMES STAND AGAINST PROHIBITION.

It is known that Senator Ollie M. James has split entirely with Mr. Bryan on two big issues.

Senator James stands squarely with President Woodrow Wilson, both in favor of local option as against prohibition, and upon the ground that the President and his cabinet are the ones who have the real responsibility for handling war matters.

All of Senator James' appointees in Kentucky are working hard for Mr. Stanley's election, believing that Mr. Stanley is the only candidate who agrees with Woodrow Wilson on the temperance question, and who stands squarely upon the Democratic platform.

Senator James has publicly stated his unalterable opposition to prohibition. On the floor of the United States Senate, January 16, 1915, Senator James declared his stand with President Woodrow Wilson for local self-government in each county. He had President Wilson's Shannon letter read to the United States Senate from the Clerk's desk.

"The people living in one part of Kentucky cannot force their will upon other parts of the State. Local self-government is given to the people of each county which together constitute the State."

This is what Senator James told the United States Senate.
This is where he stands.

YELLOW DOGS

Title Of New Fraternal Order Organized Here.

The most recent thing in the way of a fraternal order is the Ancient and Honorable Order of "Yellow Dogs", a chapter of which has been recently organized in this city. One of the attractive features of this noble order, to say nothing of the impressive ceremony, is that there is no initiation fee, every thing being entirely free. Owing possibly to this cause, as well as to the virtues of the order, its growth has been phenomenal, there being at present nearly two hundred members on the roster, with applications coming in every day.

The degree team of this noble order were in Chattanooga during the last road meeting and initiated nearly one hundred while in the Southern city. These of course are all members Lancaster Kennel No. 110, and are in good standing. The officers of the local order are all prominent in business here and are as follows:

Worthy Grand Cur, Mr. J. S. Haselden, Vice Grand Cur, J. L. Gill, Chief

Scratcher, Mr. M. K. Denny, Chief

Yelper, Joe J. Walker and Superintendent of Telephone Poles, J. W. Smith.

HORSES AND MULES

Changed Hands Last Monday.

Although there was very little stock on the market last Monday, yet most every thing that was offered for sale was bought at very good prices. The following are a few of the sales reported. Mr. Alex Doty bought eight head of cattle of Simon Weil, for $12.50 a head. Center Brothers five cattle of W. G. Anderson, at 25 cents, eight head of Wm. Blatt, at 6 cents and three of S. L. Rich at 6 cents. These parties bought of John Tussey, 24 hogs average 200 pounds at $7.10. W. H. Burton bought of Sim Clark, a black horse for $100 and one of John Broadus, for $125 and of Crab Orchard party one for $130. Mr. Burton also purchased of different parties three good mules for army purposes for an average of $150 a head. Wm. Patterson, of Wilmore, bought three horses at prices $100 to $125. Hunter Peal a bay horse of Jim Rogers for $100. Richard Gentry, of Boyle a good walking horse of Charlie Rogers for $200. Fletcher Mann, of Lexington eleven head of mules of W. B. Burton at prices ranging $125 to $145. Robert Henry sold a nice Hereford bull to T. R. Kuhlman, of Lowell for $100. V. A. Lear of Tom Chesnut, 12 hogs average 240 pounds at 7 cents and 25 of W. M. Bogle at same price, average about 250 pounds.

MURDER OF THE ARCHDUKE OF AUSTRIA TOOK PLACE A YEAR AGO MONDAY.

One year ago last Monday the Austrian Archduke, Francis Ferdinand, and his wife, were shot and killed in the Bosnian town of Sarajevo by Garvino Princip. It was the act of Princip, a poor student, which ultimately resulted in eleven nations going to war. These nations are, on one hand, Great Britain, France, Russia, Serbia, Japan, Belgium, Italy and Montenegro, and, on the other, Germany, Austria and Turkey. The war to date, according to conservative estimates compiled from the best available reports, has caused a loss to the various belligerents of more than six million men, dead, wounded and prisoners, and more than five hundred ships. Of these about 120 were war vessels.

Prinzip's crime was committed on June 28. An investigation disclosed what was alleged to be proof that the assassin was the tool of a group of Serbians. On July 23, after considerable correspondence and negotiations, an ultimatum was sent to Serbia by the Austro-Hungarian Government, which Serbia declined to accept. A week later a general mobilization of Russian troops along the German border was ordered and the following day Germany declared war on Russia. The news of that event was followed in a few hours by the announcement that a general mobilization had been ordered by the French cabinet.

On August 2 German troops entered Luxembourg and Germany demanded free passage through Belgium to the French frontier. This was refused and two days later Great Britain dispatched to Germany an ultimatum demanding that the neutrality of Belgium be maintained. The ultimatum rejected, German forces attacked Liege. On the same day President Wilson issued a proclamation of neutrality.

The following day saw the declaration by Great Britain of a state of war with Germany, and two days later the Germans entered Liege as the French invaded southern Alsace.

These events were quickly followed by an affirmation on the part of Italy for her neutrality, by an Austrian invasion of Serbia, and by the sending by Japan of an ultimatum to Germany. This had to do with the German possession of Kiaochow, of which Teikigtau was the port.

FOURTH OF JULY TETANUS OR LOCKJAW. Issued By The State Board of Health Of Kentucky.

The remarkable campaign for the diffusion of knowledge as to the practical prevention of lock-jaw following injuries received on the Fourth of July, conducted by the Journal of the American Medical Association for the past decade, is bearing fruit. In 1903 there were 417 deaths from lock-jaw amongst the Fourth of July victims. By 1909 this number had been reduced to 130, and last year there were only 3. Blank cartridges and similar wounds are the great cause of lock-jaw. Every punctured wound made by an unsterilized instrument or object is dangerous. The lock-jaw germs thrive only in the absence of oxygen. On this account the physician should be called at once and he will enlarge the wound and remove all foreign material and clean it out in such a manner as to prevent the development of the germs or seed of disease. In order to secure results it is generally necessary to administer ether or some other general anesthetic. The anti-tetanus serum is of real value as a preventive measure provided it is given within a few hours after receipt of injury.

Parents should realize that Fourth of July and other tetanus or lock-jaw is easy to prevent but extremely difficult to cure. Every punctured wound should receive careful medical attention. However slight the injury may appear, summon a physician who will adopt energetic measures. Most lives are sacrificed from lock-jaw which put reliance upon home treatment.

The State Board of Health keeps a constant supply of anti-serum at its Laboratory in Bowling Green and can supply it at actual cost to any physician who wires or telephones for it.

LANCASTER BOY SCOUTS

To Spend Ten Days At Camp Daniel Boone.

Quite a number of the Lancaster boy scouts will spend a week at Camp Daniel Boone, a summer camp for boys, conducted by the executive committee of the Kentucky Young Men's Christian Association. Mr. F. M. Tindler will be in charge of this group of boys and they will start for the camp on Tuesday morning July 6th.

The camp is situated on the Kentucky River, at the mouth of Marble Creek, seven miles from Nicholasville, on the L. & A. division of the L. & N., and two miles below Valley View. The grounds are almost under the massive cliffs that are adjacent to Marble Creek, in one of the most picturesque, delightfully wild and beautiful regions in America. No boy can look upon those towering heights and wild woods without thinking nobler thoughts and realizing in a deeper sense the immensity of God's handiwork. A more suitable camping place could not be selected anywhere in the state.

The supervision and management is the best obtainable and is the result of several years experimenting. All leaders are experienced men either from Y. M. C. A.'s, Boy Scout organizations and Sunday Schools. The boys are divided into groups of seven each, with an adult experienced leader over them. One of the strictest rules of the camp is in regard to swimming, and no one is allowed in the river except at the regular swimming periods when life savers in boats keep close watch. The place is safe, and there is a gradual increase in the depth of the water. Those who can not swim are given special instruction absolutely free, and no boy ever leaves camp without knowing how to swim. Instruction in life saving is also taught.

The camp is not military, although order and obedience are insisted on; rather it is a large company of older and younger brothers who trust and try to help each other. Boys are put on their honor to do what is right. Self-government is encouraged.

The object of the camp is Christian training, physical development, knowledge of nature, recreation, fun and more fun. Some of the very attractive features are a splendid boys' library, a nature study group (the Wantonell Club), special training classes, all kinds of games, as the grounds are equipped with several tennis courts, good baseball diamond, track, volleyball courts, etc., and good eats and pure water. A camp physician is on the grounds at all times and he watches the health of the campers and gives attention in teaching first aid.

The camp is open to any Kentucky white boy 12 years or over who sends in an application blank properly endorsed. The cost of the camp is $7 for ten days, plus railroad fare.

JUDGE LEWIS L. WALKER OF LANCASTER, CANDIDATE FOR LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR.

On last Saturday, June 26th, Judge Lewis L. Walker filed his notification and declaration as a candidate for the Republican nomination for Lieutenant Governor to be voted for at the primary election to be held on Saturday, August 7th, 1915.

Judge Walker was born and reared in Garrard County, and it goes without saying that we would all, regardless of our politics, be pleased to see him get the nomination. He has been a practicing lawyer at the Lancaster bar since he received his license in August 1894. While reared in a democratic family Judge Walker became a republican early in life, and cast his first vote in a State race for Senator W. O. Bradley for governor in 1895, and his first vote in a National race for Wm. McKinley for President in 1896. His belief and conviction in the merit of a protective tariff made him a republican. He believes that the prosperity of this country has been due largely to this policy; and that we should have such a tariff as represents the difference in the cost of production in this country, and foreign countries, and thus uphold the high standard of American wages, and at the same time create and maintain a good, strong, healthy home market for our products in the United States, and our motto should be "America for Americans." He is also a firm believer in the gold standard, and the highest efficiency in our monetary policies.

Judge Walker became a candidate on the platform of the republican convention recently held in the city of Lexington, which provides among other things for a fair apportionment bill so as to give all the people of Kentucky equal and just representation as is required by the plain mandates of the constitution; an economic administration of public affairs; a reduction of the State debt; a non-partisan Judiciary, taking the school and State institutions out of politics; reform of our tax laws, to be submitted to a vote of the people before being effective; the condemnation of the present primary law as partisan and unfair and gotten up only to give the politicians advantage over the honest

COMMERCIAL CLUBS.

(By George Fitch)

A Commercial Club is a sort of municipal elevator run by enthusiasm. By means of this elevator cities can be hoisted up to a dizzy population and the price of corner lots can sometimes be increased 1,000 per cent before the rope breaks.

The object of the Commercial Club is to convince the world that its city is more remarkable than Babylon or Chicago. This is usually done by talking about clearing-houses, building and manufacturing statistics, by publishing views of the skyscraper district and the plans for the new hotel, and by calling the United States census a liar in emphatic tones. A good Commercial Club can take a city of 25,000 people and talk about it so enormously that the man who has read its literature is stricken with awe, and asks the proprietor of the hotel bus where the elevated railroad is as soon as he hits the town.

New York City is the only city in this country which is so big that it doesn't have to have a Commercial Club. But then half a million authors and actors have been advertising New York City for the last century.

As far as known there is no city in the country too small to have a Commercial Club. There are some settlements in the West which only contain one person, but in this case the citizen combines the offices of president and secretary, and fills them both until he can share some more population.

Sometimes a Commercial Club talks so much about its city that it begins to think about it also. Shortly afterward the city begins to acquire cleanliness, beauty, order, and many other strange and unheard of improvements. Commercial Clubs of this sort should be preserved very carefully in the interests of civilization.

STORMES DRUG STORE.

The children of the present day will grow up to recognize Crane's Papers as the model standard of those who demand the best, as did their mothers, grandmothers, and great grandmothers before them.

Those who produce Crane's papers to-day inherited their ability from their forefathers, the artisans of days now past. As rug weaving is a heritage of the Persians, diamond cutting a heritage of the Belgians, so is paper making a heritage of the workmen employed at the Crane Mills in Western Massachusetts.

Complete stock in all the various sizes and this continually on exhibit.

Russia's Vast Resources.

Russia lacks only ten longitudinal degrees of stretching half way round the earth, and possesses one-sixth of the landed area of the planet. Russia's Asiatic possessions are forty times as great as those of Japan, even since the new Asiatic balance that followed the Russo-Japanese war. The variety of Russia's resources make the empire second only to the United States as the greatest food producing country in the world. It leads all nations in mineral wealth and timber supply.

"Bankrupt."

The discussion on the etymology of the word "bank" in Mr. Justice Darling's court might have been carried a step further by the illustration of our term "bankrupt," says a London paper. The old Venetian money-changers and lenders carried on their business at a stand or bench (banca), and when one was unable to meet his obligations his "banca" was broken (rupta).

The Test.

Life is a thing given us for a few years. Its only value lies in the use we make of it. Lose it we must, and very soon. But honor and duty are for all time. Why do we see a 'soldier's monument' in nearly every town of every state which fought for the Union? Not because these men died, but because they died. — Agnes Repplier, in the Atlantic.

The Acme of Consideration.

"I shall never find another man like George was," means the lady in heavy black. The friend beside her pats her arm soothingly. "No never gave me a harsh word," continues the disconsolate one. "Why, there were many times when he spoke to me in kinder tones than he used to the cook—and you know how much we were afraid she would get angry and quit."

Stationary Science.

A medical student once asked the late Prof. Parker Cleveland if there were not more recent works on anatomy than those in the college library. "Young man," said the professor, "there have been very few new bones added to the human body during the last twenty years."

A SPEECH MADE BY THE HON. BASIL RICHARDSON, THE WELL KNOWN LAWYER OF SOUTHERN KENTUCKY

And A Recognized State Wide And Nation
Wide Prohibitionist Upon The Liquor Question, In Introducing The Hon. A.
O. Stanley To An Audience At Glasgow Ky., On June 21st, Which Taxed The Capacity Of Barren County's Great Court House.

In The Senatorial Campaign Last Year
Mr. Richardson Was Ardent Supporter
Of Gov. Beckham.

In the third chapter of the book of Ecclesiastes, it is written:

"To everything there is a season, and a time for every purpose under the heaven; a time to be born, and a time to die; a time to plant, and a time to plow up that which is planted; a time to kill and a time to heal; a time to weep and a time to laugh; a time to mourn and a time to dance; a time to cast away stones and a time to gather together, a time to embrace, and a time to refrain from embracing; a time to get, and a time to lose; a time to keep and a time to cast away; a time to keep silence and a time to speak; a time to love and a time to hate; a time at war, and a time of peace."

I wish it was with my power to bring this eternal truth to the mind and heart of every Democrat in Kentucky.

We have five candidates for the Democratic nomination for the office of Governor of this Commonwealth. It is time to nominate one candidate for this high office; it is time to love and not time to hate; it is time to gather together stones for the battle against the opposition of Democracy, and for the peace within the party and not for war in our own ranks.

All five of the democratic candidates, are men of high order and well worthy and qualified for the office they seek. The issue forced upon the Democratic party by them, is the liquor question. As to this question I am for State wide and Nation wide prohibition and until this can be had, I am for amending and enlarging by legislative enactment, the County Unit law, or local option law with the County as a unit, so as to make the forces of it most effective, but, it is not the time for local option or State wide prohibition issues. The liquor question is purely a moral and social one, and the final settlement thereof will be religious, and not political. The interest and success of the question demand it to be so. Those who rightfully desire its success and final settlement do now, and have always so regarded it.

The makers of the constitution of Kentucky, who were the illustrious and able men from all parties, evidently viewed the liquor question as a moral and social, and not a partisan question, for, by a provision of the constitution, proposed in the convention by them, and ratified by the voters of Kentucky, it was made impossible to hold a liquor election at the same time a political election is held. Is it not easier to follow the makers of the constitution on this question than some candidate for office?

This provision of the constitution is a wise and salutary one, and without it, the local option law would not now be in operation in any county in the State. Under it, and the Statute in pursuance thereto, one hundred and twelve counties in the State are under local option law. More than three fourths of the area and more than two thirds of the population of the State, are now under the local option law. The time is near in the future when there will be no section and no citizen in this State without the influence of either local option or State wide prohibition.

More than half the area, and more than one-half of the population of the United States are under prohibition. The time is also near in the future when there will be no territory and citizens of the United States without the influence of prohibition. But, this condition in this state, and throughout the United States will be brought about by the voters of all political parties and at a time and at an election, other than a regular political election held to nominate party candidates for executive offices.

In every county of this State, and at every election in this State, and without this State, wherein the local option or prohibition law has been put into operation, it has been done at elections held when the only issue was the liquor question, and at all time elections all political parties voted their religious and moral sentiments and not their political views.

The local option or prohibition question and political issues will no more mix than will water and oil. An effort to mix water and oil, ruins the oil and spoils the water. The mixing of the liquor question and politics, always spoils the politics and defeats the liquor question. The history of the defeats of the Prohibition Party should be sufficient to convince all of us, and to lead us to avoid attempting to mix politics and the liquor question at primary elections for executive offices. I would urge every Democrat, not only in Barren County, but in Kentucky, if it were within my power, to follow the constitution, and keep separate the liquor question and their politics and not to attempt to mix those questions, or make them an issue in a party primary, and thereby avoid disaster to our party. Moreover, it is not the part of wisdom, and it is not fair to the Democrats in local option counties to have forced upon them in a party primary, by candidates, an issue on the State wide question in a race for the nomination for Governor. It is no time for it. It is not good Democracy. It is alright to demand of candidates for offices of Representative and Senator, a declaration of their views on all moral and Social questions, including local option and prohibition. For it is their duty to enact laws and propose constitutional amendments, pertaining thereto. But, the Governor, after he is elected, can neither vote nor veto, a proposed amendment to the constitution authorizing the submission to the people of the question of State wide prohibition.

The Governor has under the law and the constitution, no more to do with, or authority over such proposed amendments to the constitution, than has the Chief Justice of the Court of Appeals of Kentucky. Therefore, the belief and conviction of the one on this question, should not be a test of his Democracy, and more than the belief and conviction of the other.

The eternal principles of Democracy are big enough and do embrace the local option and prohibition question, but these questions should not be made a test in Democratic Primary for an executive office. It is neither the time nor the place therefor. Democracy means more and treats men better than that. Its principles are big enough and broad enough and high enough and deep enough to embrace every social and moral question including the local option or prohibition issue, and Democracy is good enough not to make these a test of ones Democracy for an executive or judicial office. They are big enough and broad enough to found and build and maintain upon them, a righteous government by a righteous people and for a righteous people. They are saving our country to-day. With all of my heart, I believe, and am convinced that when the God of all of us, fore saw the on-coming of the great European war, he called to service to save our system of government, the great principles of Democracy, and that man, whose life and character and broad christianity make him rise above the rest of mankind, like the mountain peaks rise above the mist of the valley in early morn, and whose intellect and Democracy keep the blood of Americans from drenching, to day, the sands of Mexico and making crimson the waters of Europe. It is the principles of Democracy, that move and guide Woodrow Wilson in maintaining the stability of our government, as well as the saving of the lives of Americans in these days of almost universal war.

It is a part of his democracy to deal with the liquor question as a moral and religious question. He said in his Shannon letter that it was a moral and social question: Can we do better than gauge our Democracy by his? We follow him in time of war, and in time of peace, should we not follow him in time of politics? He does not and he will not make ones belief and convictions on the liquor question a test of his Democracy, shall we do so? Let us not make it such, or attempt to mix the question with politics at a primary election for the office of Governor. To do so is out of time and out of season.

We have with us here today a man who stands with Woodrow Wilson on great questions that effect our common welfare. We have with us here today a man who for twelve years has fought the battles of Democracy in Congress and out. He has stood face to face, heart to heart, to the naked truth of things, and buried the shining lance full and fair into the face of the defamers of our country. He is a lawyer and statesman. He is more than that. He is the Intellectual Giant, Hon. A. O. Stanley, I present him, hear him, work for him now, vote for him, nominate him and when the ides of November shall have come, Edwin P. Morrow, the Republican Party and the Devil and Tom Walker can't beat him.

I have four first class farms, containing about 1400 acres of Garrard County's best soil, which I will cut in parcels to suit purchasers, in amounts from five acres to an entire farm. 310 acres, fertile soil, on good pike, two miles from a thriving village and 1 1/2 miles from one of the best graded schools in the State, conducted by four experienced teachers, children conveyed to and from school at the expense of the District; intelligent, cultured and hospitable people for neighbors, in two miles of High Bridge, where boating, and other methods of entertainment are at hand. Five room residence, two tenant houses, 3 acre tobacco barn, 150 acres in grass. Farm is near the proposed million dollar dam to be constructed on Kentucky river, which will furnish electric light for the entire country. It can be divided into three farms.

NORA FINNERTY'S SIN

By GEORGE MUNSON.

(Copyright, 1915, by W. O. Chapman.)

Paddy Sheehan looked at Tim Murphy with withering scorn. "You want to marry my Kathleen?" roared the ex-elderman. "Who are you? A penniless pup, a—?"

"To quote your own words, Mr. Sheehan, were you not a penniless canine yourself once?" inquired Tim. "I was, sor. And proud of it," answered the old man, relapsing into his native dialect. "And I made a million for myself by honest labor. When you've got started on the same way you can show your face here again—not till then. Will you get out or will I throw you out?"

That terminated the interview. But in justice to Paddy it must be said he secretly admired the young man and did not bear him any malice on account of his lack of means. His knowledge that Tim had the makings of a successful man, even though he was at present struggling along as a clerk in an insurance office. The fact was, he treasured his only child so much that he could not bear the thought of losing her.

This possibility so preyed upon his mind that he resolved to put into execution a plan he had long projected. "Kathleen, girl," he said to his daughter, "you may as well put the idea of that young pup out of your head. We're going to Ireland, which I haven't seen since I was a boy. We'll see the old home, and—Nora Finnerty. Maybe she's married now, and maybe she ain't."

Kathleen knew all about her father's boyish sweetheart, whom he had promised to marry when he sailed for America years before. He had married another woman, but the memory of his first love had always been green with him.

It is probable that, in spite of her father's injunctions, Kathleen did contrive to see Tim before sailing. Anyway, hardly had the ship passed Sandy Hook than Mr. Sheehan, strolling upon the deck, came face to face with the young man.

"What are you doing here, you scoundrel?" he shouted.

"Pardon me, Mr. Sheehan," replied the young fellow blandly, "but I think I am entitled to take passage aboard this ship."

"You're following me and Kathleen," roared the exasperated father.

"No, sir. I am on my way home to Ireland to visit my mother."

"If I see you speaking to Kathleen I'll—I'll throw you into the engine room," warned Paddy, shaking his fist.

Despite the most careful observation on his part, it was clear that the would-be son-in-law did not attempt to speak to Kathleen during the voyage. His last sight of him at Queenstown, but when he came upon him at Kerry, standing, spick and span, with a shamrock in his buttonhole, at the railroad station his anger burst out against him.

"You're following me," he shouted, shaking his fist under the young man's nose.

"Mr. Sheehan, I'll have you know once for all that I have no intention of following you," responded Tim. "I have come to Kerry to visit my old mother."

"If you cross my path again I'll eat you!" shouted the ex-elderman.

All the way to Nora Finnerty's cottage he pointed out the old landmarks. By the time the little thatched building arrived in sight he was as enthusiastic as a boy. He drew up the car, leaped down and stared into the wrinkled face of the old woman knitting at the door. Then he flung his arms about her.

"It's Nora Finnerty, by all that's sacred!" he shouted. "Don't you know me, Nora? I'm Paddy Sheehan—Paddy that used to be your sweetheart in the long ago."

The old woman arose, beaming. "Paddy!" she cried. "Back from Chicago, where it's great things I'm hearing of you all these years. But you must come in and have a bite. Only you mustn't kiss me, Paddy, because my husband's away and he wouldn't like it."

"You husband?" echoed Paddy. "Michael O'Rourke, who's at the fair today leaving me the sweetest boy—but come in—here's my son Tim, Mr. Sheehan."

The ex-elderman looked speechlessly at Tim Murphy. Then, whether or not the occasion overcame him, he grasped him by the hand and instantly his daughter's arms were round his neck.

"Father, we love each other," she pleaded. "Father, you won't keep us apart?"

"If I'd have known—" began Sheehan, growling, and then he clapped the young fellow upon the back.

"Take her, Tim O'Rourke," he said. "I give up. You've won her. I didn't dream you were the son of—oh—oh—in it O'Rourke or is it Murphy they're after calling you?"

"Sure, he's a stepson," exclaimed the old lady. "He was my first husband's son."

"You've been married twice, then?" inquired Paddy.

"Three times," said the old lady.

"And," she added wistfully, as the car drove off, half an hour later, with a happy couple upon one seat and a joyous old man on the other, "I think I'll ha off to Father Flynn and ask him if it's a mortal sin to have taken three husbands when I never had one, and a fine young man like that—me that never bore any children."

The Huster Brown farm near Camp Dick Robinson, 410 acres, five good barns, all new, splendid residence, thirty foot concrete silo, concrete pools, lots of hemp, corn, and tobacco crops.

Robinson Brothers farm contains 350 acres, one stock barn, two tobacco barns, seven room residence. Most of this is sand stone land and any farmer in Garrard county knows this kind of land is the land that grows the highest price tobacco, as well as corn and hemp. The evidences are on the farm to bear out this statement. This farm is located on the Kemper Lane near Lexington pike.

The Beazley farm, one and one half miles from Lancaster, on Lexington pike, 290 acres, good brick residence, tobacco barn, stock barn, in reach of the Lancaster Graded school. The soil is splendid, well watered and the farm fronts one and one quarter miles on the Lexington pike, in easy reach of town and the entire front can be used as building sites, which I propose to cut in any size to suit purchaser.

I will exchange any of this property for Garrard county property at the same price I will sell for cash. If you wish to exchange, come with yours priced as you would sell for cash. You can get this land just as cheap by exchange as by purchase if you desire to change your location.

Now these are four as good farms as there are in the county. If you have been a failure in life, stay at home. If you are the kind who never dread any failures, I want to see you. These are live farms and want to see live men. Call on or write.

Are You Going to the World's Greatest Exposition?

Marvels of Landscape, Sculpture and Architecture, Wonderful Exhibits at Huge Panama-Pacific International Exposition, San Francisco

LOW ROUND TRIP RATES AFFORD GREATEST OPPORTUNITY OF A LIFETIME TO TAKE WONDERFUL JOURNEY AND SEE FINEST DISPLAYS OF WORLD'S NATIONS

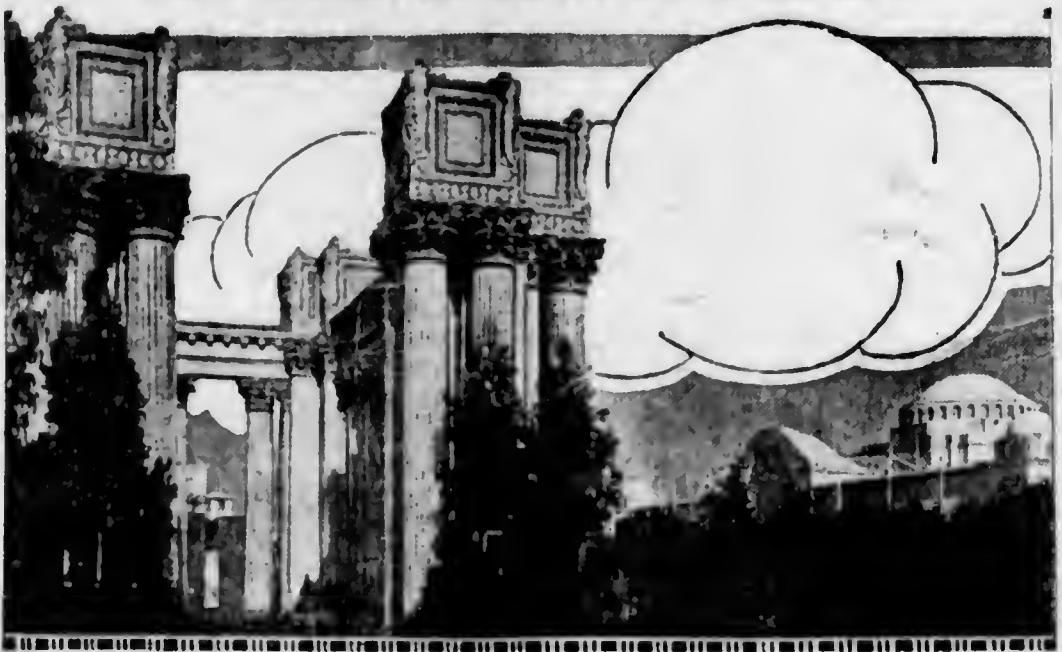

These pictures at least can indicate but feebly the indescribable marvels presented by the Panama-Pacific International Exposition at San Francisco to which the people of all nations are thronging.

Forty-two foreign nations, and more than 80,000 individual exhibitors, representing every country on the globe have sent to this wonderful $50,000,000 show the best of their present-day achievements which are now displayed in the eleven colossal exhibit palaces and also in the buildings of the state and foreign group, the latter structures being built in most cases in a style of architecture characteristic of the state or nation represented. More than $10,000,000 has been invested in the "Zone," the 3,000-foot amusement street of this great fair, where the world's premier showmen are conducting the most wonderful and most original sight-seeing and pure fun attractions ever assembled for any celebration on earth.

In order to put the opportunity of seeing this most marvelous of all expositions within reach of the greatest number of people the railroads have cut rates in half to and from San Francisco, and the hotel and restaurant associations of the city have agreed to keep their schedule of prices down to normal figures.

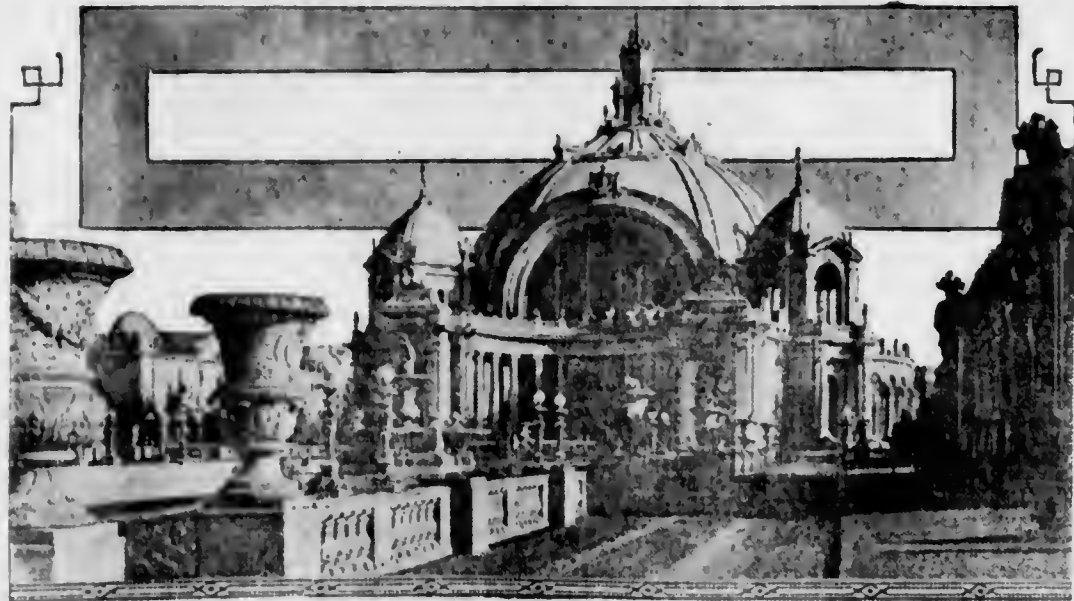

Complete information regarding this wonderful world's fair may be had free for the asking by addressing Manager of the Bureau of Publications, Press Building, Panama-Pacific International Exposition, San Francisco, California, who will forward to any address a beautiful sixty-page booklet, illustrated in colors, containing detailed information regarding the glories of this great celebration and a complete description of the Panama Canal.

ONE OF THE WORLD'S MOST BEAUTIFUL ARCHITECTURAL SIGHTS

End view of Graeco-Roman colonnade extending 1,100 feet before the Palace of Fine Arts, Panama-Pacific International Exposition, at San Francisco, and curving in a graceful sweep along the shores of the Fine Arts lagoon. Surrounding these pillars are beautiful figures of women gazing into an urn, expressive of Art and Beauty. Eric Ellershaug is the designer of these groups. Over the foliage and forestation of the Fine Arts lagoon can be seen the Half Dome of Philosophy and the grand central dome of the Palace of Education.

WHERE WORLD'S GREATEST PIPE ORGAN WILL BE HEARD

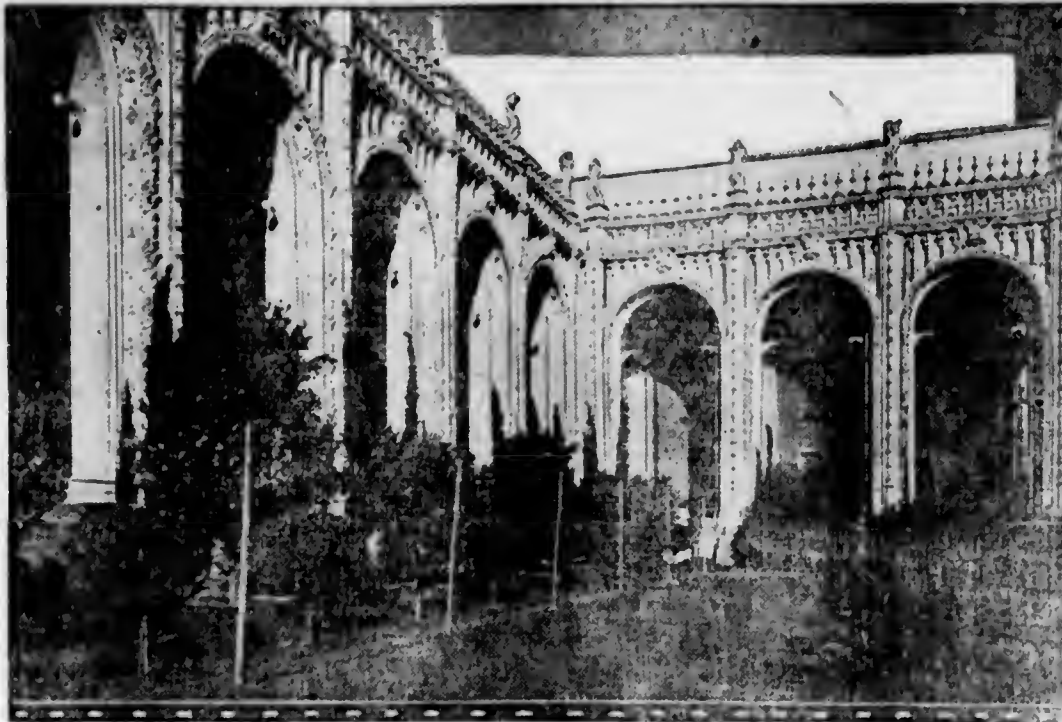

Festival Hall—Panama-Pacific International Exposition—from the south promenade of the South Gardens, the facade of the Press building showing at the extreme right. On the great organ in this hall—one of the six greatest organs in the world—Camille Saint-Saëns will play an original composition, and there will be recitals by Edwin Lemare of London, Wallace Sablin and other maestros. This hall will center the intellectual, dramatic, musical and literary life of the exposition at San Francisco many of the 400 conventions of this year making it their assembly place.

These corridors are illuminated by the new indirect lighting system, the whole vast area of this court—900 by 500 feet—being lighted in the same manner, Panama-Pacific International Exposition, San Francisco.

SUPERB NIGHT ILLUMINATION OF THE VAST PALACE OF HORTICULTURE

At night the vast glass dome of the Palace of Horticulture is played upon by rays of gigantic searchlight projectors set within the building. The globe, which is the largest hemispherical glass dome in the world and is one of the many marvels of the great Panama-Pacific International Exposition, then assumes all the colors of the rainbow. This photograph shows the great building at night with the rays of the searchlights casting the sign of the Zodiac over its gleaming surface.

INSIDE INN AT PANAMA-PACIFIC INTERNATIONAL EXPOSITION

View of architect's perspective of huge hotel on the exposition grounds at San Francisco. Visitors to the great world's exposition at St. Louis in 1904 will remember the huge Inside Inn at that exposition. There is a similar large building at San Francisco, with a capacity of accommodating thousands of people. The location of the building is within the exposition grounds, near the great Palace of Fine Arts. The Inside Inn is a city in itself.

OF INTEREST TO EMPLOYEES AND OTHERS.

Few of our readers are, perhaps, aware that the United States Government, through the Department of Labor, has inaugurated as a part of the Division of Information a country-wide employment bureau. It is the belief of those connected with the work that it will go far toward improving business conditions in the United States. The underlying principle of the work is, perhaps, best expressed by the Secretary of the Department of Labor in the following words:

"The Department of Labor... has established Distribution Branches throughout the country for the purpose on the one hand of developing the welfare of the wage earners of the United States and improving their opportunities for profitable employment, and on the other hand of affording to employers a method whereby they may make application for such help as they need, either male or female, citizens or alien residents, and have their wants supplied through said Distribution Branches."

Comparative statistics show that there has been in some portions of the United States a surplus of labor, while in other portions a deficiency. It is believed that this condition will be almost, if not entirely, eliminated by this work. This will appear from the following brief explanation of the system under which the work is conducted.

The United States has been divided into eighteen sections, or "Distribution Zones," as they are called, and in each of these zones an employment office has been opened. These zones in nearly every case have been subdivided and branch offices opened under the jurisdiction of the controlling zone office. This means that a large number of employment offices have been opened by the United States Government. At these offices the employer, who needs help of any kind, skilled or unskilled, be he farmer, merchant, manufacturer, or whatever his business, can secure what he wants without any more trouble or expense than the work of stating what he desires, and the expense of a postage stamp if he finds it inconvenient to call at the Distribution Office in person. Neither is any fee accepted by the Government from those seeking employment. It goes even further; every postmaster in the United States is a representative of this Employment Bureau. At every post office in the United States will be found, on application to the postmaster, blanks for use of employers in need of help and for the use of persons seeking employment. These blanks, upon being handed to the postmaster are transmitted by him, free of charge, to the proper zone office, where both blanks are properly registered, and proper help selected for the employer in need of help, either from applicants residing in the city in which the office is located, or from the applications on file. On the day the employer's application is received by the Distribution Office, a copy is sent to the Division of Information, at Washington, D. C. At frequent intervals these applications are assembled and published in the form of bulletins and distributed to all Distribution Offices, thereby making it possible for each office to know where help of any description is in demand.

At the Distribution Office the best interests of the employer are kept constantly in mind, and only such is selected for positions as are, in the opinion of the officer in charge, well qualified to perform the duties required.

CIRCULAR.

To the Millers of Kentucky:
States to the north and south of Kentucky have been issuing regulations requiring bleached flour to be so labeled and we have some complaint that flour sent out from Kentucky is not labeled as required by such state laws. The Kentucky law plainly requires flour bleached in any manner to be so labeled, and our millers are asked to inform themselves as to the states in which similar law is in effect, and to comply with all such laws.

We have had general complaint from a number of Kentucky millers, who do not bleach, that other mills, who do bleach their product, do not label to show the fact, and thus obtain an unfair advantage.

Pending the final settlement of the law and facts relating to bleaching, there is no doubt but that the Kentucky law requires the label to state the facts of bleaching, and there is no honest reason why the consuming public should not know if the flour is so bleached.

The Womans Club

(Edited by The Womans Club)

Italy is indebted to a woman, Signora Bianca Harold of Bologna, for the invention of a gauze mask to neutralize the effect of asphyxiating gases. While men are preparing new devices for the taking of life women are at their old task of preserving life.

When the Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs, at its 21st annual meeting in May, adopted a resolution pledging it to work for the inclusion of a "submission" plank in political platforms it was hardly hoped that such a result would be achieved and that within a month one great party would comply with its request.

Yet exactly that has happened! The Republican State Platform Convention, on June 15th, adopted the following resolution among the 17 comprising its platform:

"Expressly reserving the right of all Republicans to vote upon the subject of woman suffrage as they see fit, we favor the adoption by the next General Assembly of a resolution submitting this question to the people for decision at the election of November, 1917."

The Resolution Committee of 13 members, 11 from the 11 districts and 2 from the State at large, made it unanimous.

The committee was addressed by Miss Laura Clay, Mrs. Morris Bartlett, president of the Federation, and Mrs. Murray Hubbard, chairman of the State Committee having the work in charge and also by the Congressional chairman for Kentucky of the Congressional Committee of the N. A. W. S. A.

Each woman spoke only 5 minutes, not urging suffrage but emphasizing the political value at this time of endorsing the principle of submitting the issue.

The success of the work is due to the splendid work of Mrs. Hubbard and her State-wide committee of able helpers, and also, in large measure, to the fine spirit of Judge George Du Rell of Louisville, chairman of the Convention Resolutions Committee, to that committee and finally, to the support given by farseeing members of the convention itself.

KENTUCKY POLITICAL NEWS

Leading Facts of the Past Week

McDERMOTT'S SPEAKINGS.

Paducah, Ky., June 26, 1915.—(Special Correspondence.)—Hon. James P. McDermott, of Jefferson County, one of the most prominent lawyers in the state, has announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for Lieutenant Governor. His platform is, briefly, better schools, improved public highways, economy in state affairs, abolishment of unnecessary expensive offices, revision of tax laws so as to relieve overtaxed properties and taxation of such property as now avoids taxation, favors the present County Unit Law for regulation of the liquor traffic as passed by the legislature in compliance with the Democratic platform of 1911, which is the fundamental law of the party, and opposes State-wide prohibition as unnecessary as a temperance measure, a menace to the overburdened taxpayers, and contrary to both the National and State platforms of the party.

Mr. McDermott is a candidate for Lieutenant Governor in 1911, and was defeated by Mr. Edward J. McChesney, the present Lieutenant Governor, now a candidate for Governor, by a plurality of 1,562 votes in the State, though Mr. McDermott carried Jefferson County over Mr. McChesney by over 5,200.

Judge Edwards is a giant physically, being several inches over six feet tall, a forceful public speaker, a man always with the courage of his convictions, and loyal to his sense of duty in both private and public life.

Mr. Newman is a Democrat of the trust type, and as Commissioner of Agriculture has accomplished greater results for the development of the farming interests of the state than all his predecessors combined. He is a tireless, fearless worker, and has done things worth while since he has been in office.

STANLEY SPEAKS TO RECORD. BREAKING CROWDS IN THE THIRD DISTRICT.

Franklin, Ky., June 26, 1915.—(Special Correspondence.)—Hon. A. O. Stanley finished the busiest week of his campaign today at this place. Speaking to the largest crowd that has attended a political speaking in this county in years, estimated at 5,000 to 6,000. Enthusiasm was unbounded, and, to all appearance, Stanley was the only kind of Democrat in Simpson county.

Mr. Stanley began the week's campaign at Glasgow, where a record-breaking attendance greeted him. It was the largest crowd that has been in Glasgow since the Civil War. Practically everybody seemed to be for Stanley.

From Glasgow, Mr. Stanley went to Edmonson, Metcalfe county; Brownsville, Edmonson county; and Scottsville, Allen county. Everywhere the attendance was larger than the court houses could accommodate, and windows and standing room were needed by eager Democrats, notwithstanding the fact that the farmers are behind with their work and in the middle of their harvest.

The masterly appeal Mr. Stanley is making to the people to stand by President Wilson in his splendid leadership of the party is received most enthusiastically. It is apparent everywhere that the people want a business administration, with such a revision of the tax laws as will enable the state to pay off the $2,000,000 state debt, without laying any heavier tax burden upon the farmer, live stock and other tangible property than now pays the expense of government. Millions upon millions of property that escapes assessment and pays no taxes must be put upon the tax duplicate and made to pay its share of the taxes necessary to pay off the state debt, build good roads throughout the state, and improve the school system by having longer terms in the country and better paid teachers.

The County Unit Law, passed by the last legislature, meets the approval of the people. They do not want to experiment with state-wide prohibition, when under the County Unit system every county vote out the saloons any time a majority of the people want to do so. The taxpayers do not want to destroy the $100,000,000 of taxable property in the state that is paying nearly a million dollars a year in taxes, and place upon the farms, factories, live stock and other property, already too heavily taxed, that additional burden, which would be necessary if state-wide prohibition were adopted.

The slogan, "Stand by the President and the Democratic platform, state and national, upon which the party has won its greatest victories," meets the hearty approval of the people.

MORROW ADDRESSES A BIG CROWD AT SHELBYVILLE.

Shelbyville, Ky., June 25, 1915 (Special Correspondence.)—In the rock-ribbed Democratic stronghold of Shelby, the Hon. Edwin P. Morrow had a very large attendance to hear him speak last Tuesday evening. Democrats and Republicans, as well as many ladies, turned out to hear him. It was noted that, although Mr. Morrow spoke at night, he had a larger crowd than Mr. McChesney had a week before, on County Court day.

Mr. Morrow, as he is familiarly called by everybody, is a most attractive speaker, and off the platform is the best handshaker, and wears the happiest smile of any man in Kentucky, and if the Democrats make any serious mistake in choosing their candidate for governor, many a Democrat will hear Morrow's eloquent voice and feel the magnetic persuasion of his cordial hand when they go into the booth on November election day.

After the speaking, a number of Democrats, and ardent temperance men, met Mr. Morrow, and told him that they agreed with him on the liquor question, believing that the County Unit law was the best way to banish the saloon from any county where a majority of the people are opposed to them. The recent wet and dry election in Shelby county proved to them that state-wide prohibition is not necessary for the voted out saloons, and the county is now as dry as a powder horn. At the same time they do not want to destroy the vast distilling properties in the state that pay nearly a million dollars in taxes, for if they do, they will know that other property, already heavily taxed, will have to take up that burden in addition to what they now carry, and that without accomplishing anything for real temperance.

With a state treasury already over two million dollars in debt, the taxpayers do not favor adding another million on account of state-wide prohibition, for they know they will have the whole thing to pay in the end, while the office seekers who are riding the prohibition issue can take it easy. The bankrupt neighboring states of West Virginia and Tennessee, each with a debt of two million dollars and state-wide prohibition, are warning danger signals to thoughtful people.

JAMES P. EDWARDS ANNOUNCES FOR LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR.

Louisville, Ky., June 26, 1915.—(Special Correspondence.)—Hon. James P. Edwards, of Jefferson County, one of the most prominent lawyers in the state, has announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for Lieutenant Governor. His platform is, briefly, better schools, improved public highways, economy in state affairs, abolishment of unnecessary expensive offices, revision of tax laws so as to relieve overtaxed properties and taxation of such property as now avoids taxation, favors the present County Unit Law for regulation of the liquor traffic as passed by the legislature in compliance with the Democratic platform of 1911, which is the fundamental law of the party, and opposes State-wide prohibition as unnecessary as a temperance measure, a menace to the overburdened taxpayers, and contrary to both the National and State platforms of the party.

Mr. Edwards is a candidate for Lieutenant Governor in 1911, and was defeated by Mr. Edward J. McChesney, the present Lieutenant Governor, now a candidate for Governor, by a plurality of 1,562 votes in the State, though Mr. McDermott carried Jefferson County over Mr. McChesney by over 5,200.

Judge Edwards is a giant physically, being several inches over six feet tall, a forceful public speaker, a man always with the courage of his convictions, and loyal to his sense of duty in both private and public life.

McCHESNEY IN THE MOUNTAINS.

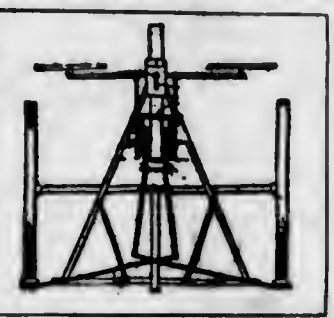

Middlesboro, Ky., June 26, 1915.—(Special Correspondence.)—H. V. McChesney, state-wide prohibition candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, has been speaking in the mountain counties this week.

At Middlesboro there were present forty white men, ten ladies, and three negroes. At London, Williamsburg and Corbin, Republicans and Democrats in about equal numbers, and a few ladies, heard him attentively. Republicans generally, who are taking any interest in state politics, think well of Mr. McChesney as a Democratic candidate.

AUTOMATIC BRAKE ON WAGON.

Device is Applied When Vehicle Starts to Move Forward Without Draft From Team Ahead.

Meditative drivers sometimes forget to put on the brake, or their wagons may be so loaded that they cannot get to the brake rod to throw it into place, and the Farming Business. Here is shown an automatic brake for wagons.

Automatic Wagon Brake.

It was invented by an Alabama man, and the patent office has recently granted a patent for it. The brake is automatically applied when the wagon starts to move forward without draft from the team that is hitched, and when the bottom of the incline is reached and the forward movement of the wagon without hitch pull stops, the brake automatically releases again. Note the slot in the tongue of the wagon where the double-tree is pinned and the automatic arrangement at once becomes clear to one studying the sketch.

IMPORTANCE OF CULTIVATION.

When Work in Garden is to Be Done By Horse Rows Should Be Long and Narrow.

An important consideration in planning the garden is the kind of cultivation to be given. Horse cultivation is recommended whenever possible, and where the work is to be done mainly by means of horse tools the garden should be long and narrow with the rows running the long way. The garden should have no paths across the rows, but turning paths should be left at the ends. For hand cultivation the rows can be much closer together, and may run across the garden. In the suggested plan, where the distance between the rows is less than two feet, hand cultivation with a wheel hoe is contemplated. If a hand cultivator or wheel hoe is not available, the rows should be at least two feet apart to give sufficient space for the horse cultivator. Straight lines should be followed, no matter what method of culture is used.

Some of the most essential points necessary to raising and keeping chickens are:

1. Have good healthy fowls to begin with.
2. Of a suitable age, not too old.
3. Keep the coops clean and free of vermin.
4. Give plenty of dust for dust baths.
5. Have good food and measured rations.
6. Dry mash must be given.
7. Have two-thirds of the food green vegetables or grass.
8. Have plenty of room for the chickens.
9. Keep coops free of cold drafts.

HOGS NEED CLEAN QUARTERS.

Many Allments of Animals Due to Sleeping in Warm Houses, Than Feeding in Cold Places.

(By WALTER B. LEUTY.)

Cough among the hogs may be due to very dusty quarters. With young hogs it is frequently due to minute threadlike worms in the bronchial tubes. A soft, hacking cough is a very common symptom of hog cholera. Hogs also have the common forms of bronchitis and pneumonia, just like other animals, and people.

With hogs, coughs and lung troubles, aside from cholera are frequently due to sleeping in warm quarters, possibly piled up, and then going out into cold places to feed.

SUCCESS WITH SWINE.

Hog Is by Himself as Economical Producer of Meat.

First Necessity is Suitable Buildings or Pens—Animal Should Be Treated With Common Sense—Allow Sufficient Space.

Special farrowing pens are provided only when many breeding sows are kept, but where there is to be a removal from the ordinary quarters to a special place it should be done in good time so that the sow may become thoroughly accustomed to her new surroundings.

There is considerable difference of opinion as to why sows kill and eat their young, and no doubt the causes are as diverse as the theories advanced to account for it. One of them, however, and not the least common, is insufficient space.

A sow when she lies down in close quarters is apt to catch an unfortunate youngster between her carcass and the wall, against which she generally places her back when suckling her pigs.

The farrowing pen should, of course, be regulated to some extent by the size of the breed kept, but generally the space allowed is too limited and we frequently see big, heavy sows with hardly room to turn around in the diminutive apartment that, previous to farrowing, served them as sleeping quarters.

Small breeds should be allowed a space of not less than 8 feet by 8 feet, increasing in the case of the larger breeds up to 12 feet by 8 feet, or 12 feet by 10 feet, and to prevent the young pigs from being crushed against the wall it is a good plan to fix a strong rail around each side of the farrowing place, at a height of from seven to nine inches from the floor and a similar distance from the wall.

This will prevent the sow floundering down with her back against the side of the pen and provides a refuge for the youngsters who can get under the projection.

It is a great mistake to provide the farrowing sow with a large quantity of bedding. Under ordinary circumstances there is no better bedding material for pigs than good wheat straw, but for the farrowing sow a moderate quantity of short stuff is preferable to the long materials, in which the pigs are apt to get tangled and unable to escape quickly out of the way of a clumsy mother.

The question whether at farrowing time the sow should be left to her own devices, or assisted in any way in taking charge of the pigs until the birth is complete, is much debated by pig breeders. She should certainly be watched.

In many cases the sow farrows during the night and is found with her pigs all right and comfortable in the morning, but it is not always so and hundreds of young pigs are lost annually and not a few sacrificed sows are the result of the want of a capable attendant.

It is certainly an advantage to have an experienced man at hand while the sow is farrowing, but there are many evils associated with untimely or undue interference.

SPRAYING FRUIT CROPS.

Doing Work at Right Time Productive of Good Results.

It is Necessary to Have Outfit Ready and Waiting—Considerable Variation in Blossoming Time of Different Apples.

A moment's reference to a diagram of a sectioned blossom as it appears at spraying time will render intelligible the principles underlying calyx spraying. Just after the petals have fallen, the calyx lobes (No. 1 in illustration) project widely. This portion of the flower can be easily sprayed, crowding against the petals (No. 2) is a light-fitting cap made of the numerous fleshy stamens bars (3). This capping conceals the inner calyx cavity (4) and renders it difficult to place poison in the inner or lower cup. Undoubtedly a great many codling worms take their first meal in this inner cup, and in the matter of practical spraying our attention must be centered on them. Quite obviously the lower cup cannot be filled with poison without coating the outer cavity, and the whole woody exterior of the apple, and the leaves as well. On the other hand, a mist spray that readily covers the outside of the blossom cannot penetrate beneath the stamens, nor can a coarse spray thrown straight up from the ground. In about a week the green sepals fold over and enclose the calyx cavities, and then it is impossible to give a complete coating to the inner cup, notwithstanding that at the same time the stamens bars are shriveling.

There is considerable variation in the blossoming period of the different varieties of apples. There is also some variation between the falling of the petals and the unfolding of the sepals. The central flower of each cluster is generally more advanced, and is most apt to set fruit. As these flowers close first the spraying should normally be timed for them. However, it sometimes happens that the most advanced blossoms may be destroyed by a late frost, and the entire crop comes from belated lateral blossoms. Obviously in such a case the time for the calyx spraying would be abnormally late.

Since the time for calyx spraying is limited to a week, or but a few days more, it is necessary to have the spray outfit ready and waiting on time. It is this spraying that determines the number of pumps required for the orchard. If the orchard is so large that the pump is taxed to furnish the spraying on time the work may be begun when about 50 per cent of the petals are off. At that time there is very little nectar left in the blossoms to attract the bees, so there will be but slight harm, if any, done to those friendly little visitors.

SOME GOOD INCUBATOR HINTS.

Be Sure Machine is Standing Level and Keep Door Closed During Hatching—Other Points.

In running any incubator, the following are important points to remember:

Test on the seventh day. Temperature 103 degrees.

Fill lamps every evening. Cool eggs after fourth day. Never cool below 85 degrees. Keep hatches perfectly clean. Turn eggs every twelve hours. Do not turn flame up too high. Keep machine out of sunlight. Put in a new wick for every hatch. Keep doors closed during hatching. Be sure the incubator is standing level.

Discontinue cooling after eighteenth day. Discontinue turning after eighteenth day. Add moisture only when air call is too small. Don't let temperature run down during hatching.

Soak Plants Thoroughly. Soak celery or tomato plants thoroughly several hours before transplanting. This will enable you to carry more dirt with the plant.
